

CODE OF CONDUCT

By participating in the event, you agree to obey the following code of conduct.

- The participants are requested to treat all the hackers with respect. They are asked to act kindly and behave professionally. Harassment or hostile behaviour towards other participants is unwelcomed.
- The participants are asked to treat the sponsors, organizers, and judges with esteem. If they approach you, kindly take out the time to interact with them. The Hackathon would not be possible without their assistance.
- Participants asked to stop any harassing behaviour are expected to comply immediately. If a participant engages in harassing behaviour, the team has the right to take actions against the participant, in order to keep the space a welcoming environment. This includes warning the offender or expulsion from the event.
- The participants are requested to contact a member of hackathon staff for any issues or doubts. The hackathon staff will be happy to assist.
- We expect the participants to abide these rules during the event span as well as, during the social media interaction.
